

Lilith: A Feminist History Journal
Nos. 17 & 18, 2012

EDITORIAL

Jane Carey

6

THEMATIC ARTICLES: UTOPIAN VISIONS

'I had more children than most people': Single Women's Missionary Maternalism in Arnhem Land, 1908-1945

Laura Rademaker

7-21

Citizen of Australia... Citizen of the World: An Australian New Woman's Feminist and Nationalist Vision

Sharon Crozier-De Rosa

22-40

Bessie Harrison Lee's Utopian Vision of Marriage and Heredity

Jennifer Caligari

41-53

Learning from the League: Supra-National Women's Groups and the League of Nations

Ellen Warne

54-67

Utopian Visions of Evolution and Race in Feminist Fiction and Activism: Some Preliminary Reflections of Catherine Spence, Henrietta Dugdale and other late Nineteenth-century Australian Writers

Jane Carey

68-88

DISCUSSION: JUDITH BENNETTS' HISTORY MATTERS: PATRIARCHY AND THE CHALLENGE OF FEMINISM

Introduction

89

Golden Ages and the 'Distant Past' in Women's History

Katherine L. French

90-92

Patriarchy and Intentionality: Does it Matter?

Ruth Mazo Karras

93-95

Continuity and Diversity in Theorisations of Patriarchy

Pavla Miller

96-100

The Persistence of Patriarchy in History Matters

Julia Adams

101-106

FORUM: ON MARGARET HENDERSON'S WONDERS TAKEN FOR SIGNS

Wonder Taken for Signs: The Cultural Activism of the Australian Women's Movement as Avant-Garde Reformation

Margaret Henderson 107-120

'The long, cumulative labour of transformation': A Response to Margaret Henderson

Zora Simic 121-131

Writing the Past as Politics: Some Reflections on Historiography and Margaret Henderson

Ann Genovese 132-138

NOTES ON CONTRIBUTORS

139